TRAFFIC EXPERT MAKES MENACE OF GOODING BILL

Blow at Midwest, Congress Told.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—(Special.)—That Chicago and the middle west would suffer incalculable injury, financially and commercially, if Congress should pass the Gooding bill, was asserted before the senate interstate commerce committee today by E. M. Antrim, traffic manager for this Chicago Tribune, and representatives of the railroad industry in that region. The bill would lower freight rates for a long time for a short haul.

Antrim followed a powerful argument against the bill, submitted by Interstate Commerce Commissioner H. C. Smith, representing the majority of the committee. Antrim and the other middle-westerners were heard.

They told the committee how the Gooding bill would be a blow to the middle west, and how the bill would be a blow to the middle west, and how the bill would be a blow to the middle west.

World Finish the Job.

The Gooding bill, favored by the Interstate Commerce Commission, would complete the discrimination against the middle west, these witnesses maintained.

Antrim's presentation of the bill, which he moved Senator Charles McNary, of Oregon, to introduce, was a masterpiece of argument. He told the committee that the bill would be a blow to the middle west, and how the bill would be a blow to the middle west.

Chicago has grown so great and so powerful that it is a menace to the world. There are more murders, robberies, and other crimes of violence in Chicago in one day than all other large cities combined.

Veracious Waterway Action.

"What we say to Chicago is that she is here with clean hands, if she comes at all. You are asking Congress to give you a waterway from the lakes to the gulf. You are asking Congress to give you the St. Lawrence river. I am in favor of both those things."

"If you are seeking to destroy the Panama canal as a low cost means of transit from coast to coast, which has been of great benefit to my own and other sections of this country, then I am not going to get the waterway you want. Take that home to Chicago, will you?"

The majority of the committee is said to favor the Gooding bill, which would be a blow to the middle west, and how the bill would be a blow to the middle west.

At Mercy of Seaboard.

"The development of Chicago," said Antrim, "is due not only to its location in the heart of the continent but to the fact that, up to the present time, the commerce has been unimpeded by any artificial restriction or limitation of the markets in which it can compete. If this bill is passed, we can have again hope to compete in the Pacific coast markets, and I hardly believe the proposed Illinois waterway will enable us to meet the competition of the Atlantic seaboard."

Chicago, Ill., in which Chicago is said to have more people in its 232 square miles of area than the total population of the eight states of Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, Wyoming, Nebraska, Utah, New Mexico, and Arizona, with their total area of 1,125,252 square miles. Our citizens, man for man, have just as much right to your consideration as do those of any other state or group of states.

"I would like to tell you what I believe will be the result if this bill becomes a law. In the first place, the railroads will not meet the water competition at the Pacific coast. The railroads are not asking permission to meet the competition, in the sense that they want to publish exactly the same rates as the water lines."

Given Both a Chance.

"The rates proposed are always different. The water rates are to allow for the more expeditious rail service. The rail rates are to be based on the same footing and give each both a chance at the business. If the rates are not reduced, certainly the intermountain rail will not be a success."

"It is a bill that will put the two in competition on page 2, column 5."

CALLS FREEDOM FOR PHILIPPINES TORCH FOR WAR

Filipino Tells Why U. S. Must Hold On.

BY FLOYD GIBBONS.

"War will break out in the Pacific within six months if the Philippines are given independence."

This is a startling and a distasteful opinion which is published here for the first time, and with weighty current importance by reason of the revival of Philippine independence efforts in Washington.

It was given to me in Manila last March by an authority whom I respect but cannot reveal. He is a Filipino, well educated and widely traveled who has practical knowledge of war and its causes and who knows well his own people. He is not a politician.

His opinion was given to me in response to my question "What would happen if the Philippines were made independent of the United States?"

His only interest, his country.

He had no personal interest at stake, save the future welfare of his family, his people and his country. He had everything to lose in confiding his opinion to me because he was identified as the author of it his life would pay the penalty.

"There is an old Spanish proverb," he told me, "which reads that a crazy man knows more in his own house than a wise man knows in the house of a stranger. It is true in the Philippines. We who know our people know better what is best for them than wise people who come from across the sea."

"You Americans have pulled out a wonderful success upon the principles of democracy, but you deny all the traditions that stretched for centuries behind the building of your nation when you take it for granted that those same principles can work out in the Philippines without the existence of the same traditions in the people. You forget that the United States was born a civilized nation."

Independence One Big Issue.

"I know my people and love them. I have lived long and worked hard among them. I could profit immediately and personally by getting on the bandwagon, as you say, and loudly endorsing the cause of independence like the rest of the politicians, but I would consider it a betrayal of my people and the future of this country."

"There is no other political issue in the Philippines but independence. There are bitter animosities and antagonisms between the various factions and their leaders, but their basis is entirely of a personal nature. Let independence become a fact and immediately these personal hatreds would disappear."

"Internecine warfare would start immediately. The tribes would break out under their petty leaders at once. The Visayans would fight the Tagalogs, the Panisians would fight the Ilocanos, the Igorotes would take the warpath, and the Moros would make Mindanao run red with the blood of Christian Filipinos. Six months would see twelve million people at one another's throat."

"Means Return to Savagery."

"Money and valuables would be needed for arms and ammunition. It would be taken, looted where it was to be found. In the absence of any federal control and the nonexistence of either a navy or inter-island communication, arms could be landed on any of the thousands of islands in the archipelago. The country would return to tribal savagery, more horrible than anything ever seen in Mexico."

"The fact is the ignorant Philippine peasant, who listens to the independence promises of the politicians, is unable to see such a logical outcome. The politician makes him believe that the Philippines are as rich industrially as the United States, as large in area as the old Russian empire, and as strong militarily as Germany used to be. He is taught that the only thing wrong with the country is that it is under the heel of the tyrant Americans. Flood, famine, pestilence, drought, taxation, and work would disappear once the invader is thrown out."

Would Bring War in Pacific.

"With the growth of conflicting armed forces and rival leaders upon the advent of independence, the anti-American and foreign prejudices so long cultivated would become violent. Nationalities of other countries would be attacked and their property confiscated."

"These countries would move forcibly to the protection of their citizens and subjects. The status quo in the Pacific would be upset and a dash would be inevitable. The war in the Pacific would be on."

NEGRO NEWSIE FINDS $100,000 PEARLS; GETS $1,000 REWARD

Warrenton, Va., Jan. 17.—(AP)—A string of pearls, last recently by Mrs. Mitchell Harrison of Philadelphia, who valued them at $100,000, were turned over to the Fugitive National bank today by George Freeman, Negro newspaper carrier. He received a reward of $1,000. Freeman picked up the pearls from the frozen snow while making his rounds several days ago. Thinking they were "a string of beads," he gave them to his little daughter, who had just fallen on the slippery pavement and was crying. Their subtle glow promptly captured her. His first purchase with the $1,000 was a string of beads for his daughter.

'Marriage Is of 7 Kinds, None Heaven Made'

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Seven varieties of love and marriage were analyzed last night by Prof. David Seabury of New York, author of "Unmaking Our Minds" and consultant in marriage troubles, in a lecture at Sinai temple. He listed the seven kinds of love, psychologically proved, as follows:

1. Mate love—the highest. The two are psychic partners, able to build the dual solitude, just as happy together as alone, merge as individuals. He cited the Brownings as examples.
2. Romantic love—Romeo and Juliet. It will last as long as the romance lasts. It is trying to see the forces of human nature on a 100 per cent basis. It looks for angels and gods and needs a mixture of common sense.
3. Sex love. This is sexual compatibility, a very important factor, but not adequate alone to the strain of the deeper experience in human life.
4. Emotional love. The sense of emotional attraction like that for master. A sense of magnetic unity.
5. Partnership love. The desire to make a home and be the mother or father of children.
6. Propinquity. The same race, church, neighborhood, politics, etc.
7. Frigid love. Marrying for a lunch basket. The search for security and protection. A great many modern marriages are built on this alone.

Only One in Ten Happy.

Only about 10 per cent of marriages are "really, blissfully happy," the professor has found. Unhappy marriages account for nervous prostration, failures in business and many other social ills.

"It is out of style today," he said, "to believe in happy marriage and love, but some day it is coming back into style, for it is possible, psychologically, to make this come true. Ten thousand years from now we may reach the place where 80 or 90 per cent are happy."

To get a basis for this new approach to marriage he would have tests made scientifically, so that character might be known up to the 25th year.

"Marriage must shape itself to human nature," he said, "contrasting the 'made in heaven' idea. Where there is no real love there is no real marriage. Love cannot be willed."

Love Isn't Eternal.

"There is nothing more insane than the present marriage ceremony, for you cannot promise to love forever. It is biologically and psychologically impossible. 'We hope we will love' should be the real basis. I believe that God is love and that what God hath joined let no man put asunder, but if there is no love they are not joined."

"Love is a force of attraction, based on laws as definite as gravity. Com-coming, and that when it is provided it will be almost negligible in amount, perhaps $250,000, as was indicated in Washington two weeks ago.

Funds "Probable" in July.

While farmers and farm organizations are demanding immediate release of the $2,000,000 appropriation, so that they can have their herds tested before April 1, Gov. Small in his statement says the funds will not be forthcoming until "probably in July."

Thousands of farmers have filed applications for the tuberculosis test with the federal veterinarian, and most of the herds could be tested before April 1 if funds were available, Dr. Lintner has said. If the herds are not tested by April 1 the Chicago market, to which more than 90 per cent of the milk is sold, will be closed to them.

Can Get Healthy Supply.

The Chicago milk distributors are said to have informed Commissioner Bunden that they can obtain by April 1, a full supply of milk from healthy, tested cows, and without any increase in price. Neighboring states will supply some of the milk, though most can be had from tested Illinois herds.

Meanwhile, with the influence of the entire commission, will be pushed the work of cleaning up the rest of the Illinois cattle. Frank A. McCarthy, state representative and attorney for the farmers with untaxed herds, has enlisted them in the campaign with the understanding that as soon as funds are available the herds will be tested. It is expected that when this is accomplished the Chicago market will be reopened to them.

All Want T. B. Tests.

Chairman Evans declared that of the farmers visited by Mr. McCarthy from 90 to 95 per cent of them have signed the applications for the tuberculosis tests, and given them in his keeping to be delivered to the commission when an agreement is formally reached, when they will be filed with the government.

Farmers all over the state are turning in applications, and it is confidently expected that should the state legislature provide sufficient funds to complete the program, Illinois will become within a year or so at the most one of the cleanest instead of the second blackest state in the union as rated by the prevalence of tuberculosis among cattle.

Other states have waged vigorously the fight on bovine tuberculosis without federal assistance, New York, for instance, having spent $7,000,000 in its campaign. Mayor Dever, informed that the Chicago dairy district could be cleaned up for an approximate $4,000,000, declared the state of Illinois could well afford to bear that entire burden.

Aldermen to Go East for River Straightening Project

Hoping to reach an early agreement to the proposals submitted by seven railroads for straightening the Chicago river and opening up streets to the south of the loop, the railway terminals committee will leave for New York Friday to consult with railroad heads and engineers on details of the proposals, Edward J. Kaindl (34th), chairman of the committee, announced yesterday.

$150,000 Civic Auditorium Proposed for Lake Forest

Plans for a proposed civic auditorium, to cost $150,000, were presented to the village board of Lake Forest last night by E. L. Baker, president of the school board. A theater to seat 1,000 persons is included. The proposed site is the grounds of the Gorton school. The trustees will vote on the proposition in February.

DRUGGAN, LAKE IN TANGLE WITH U. S. OVER TAXES

Disagree on Income; Also Quizzed on Murder.

Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, debonair beer bootleggers, have been in peaceful seclusion for several weeks, got back into two spotlights yesterday—but in the evening a pleasant time was being had by all.

The two matters which engaged the attention of the millionaire barons had to do with two isolated sets of circumstances; one being connected with their failure to pay income tax on from $3,000,000 to $15,000,000 income and the other having to do with heavy charges that old animosity for Harry Schneider, murdered Fagin, may have had something to do with the latter's violent demise.

Admits U. S. Has Case.

The two admitted that the first "rap," as Druggan describes the claims of the government, has some basis in fact. But the second charge is "all out," to further use the verbiage of Mr. Druggan.

Revenue agents have been working on the Druggan-Lake incomes for many months, and it is said still have many weeks of investigation ahead of them. It was said at the federal building, however, that there is little hope of ever proving that the pair made as much money as the agents believe they actually made.

Will Prove $3,000,000 Income.

The probable gross is placed at $15,000,000. It was reported that the government is prepared to positively prove that they made $3,000,000.

Druggan and Lake withheld estimates of the amount, but said they would have no trouble proving it much less than the government's lowest guess. They said they want to settle with the internal revenue department on an equitable basis and have instructed their attorneys to effect a settlement.

Here to Face Murder Quiz.

The real purpose of the return of the pair from New York, however, was to face the internal charges in connection with the Schneider murder. It was said. When Attorney Robert N. Golding heard their names had been mentioned in the case he wired, suggesting that they come to Chicago.

Satisfy Police Captain.

Yesterday they went to the Marquette police station and submitted to questioning by Capt. Frank Matchett. After the interview the captain permitted the men to leave the station, saying that he did not believe them implicated in the Schneider murder in any way.

Joseph Werner and William Gold, held as the principal suspects, continued to form a nucleus for the theories on which the police are proceeding in the investigation of the murder.

BOETIUS SULLIVAN ADDS $11,500 TO U. OF I. GIFT

Boetius H. Sullivan has added $11,500 to his gift of $100,000 made last April for a radio station at the University of Illinois. It was announced last night at Champaign. The station is to be in memory of his father, the late Roger Sullivan, and is for the purpose of broadcasting lectures.

A gift of another $100,000 station was made to Notre Dame university last April. Both universities have accepted the offers. The new gift is for a building to house the new radio station, it was said in a letter from Mr. Sullivan received by J. M. White, supervising architect at the University of Illinois. Mr. Sullivan was not at home last night to speak about his action.

AIR TRANSPORT IN UNITED STATES

The following contract air mail routes have been awarded under contracts by the postoffice department. They will form junctions with each other and with railway mail services:

No. 1—Boston, Hartford, New York, No. 2—Chicago, Springfield, St. Louis, No. 3—Chicago, Kansas City, Fort Worth, Dallas, No. 4—Salt Lake City, Las Vegas, Los Angeles, No. 5—Elko, Nev.; Boise, Idaho; Pasco, Wash.

No. 6—Detroit, Cleveland, No. 7—Detroit, Chicago.

All these private air mail lines have airports except at Chicago and New York City, the mail for the latter being landed in New Jersey. The map line from New York to San Francisco represents the present transcontinental air mail route. The heavy line from Seattle to Los Angeles via San Francisco, represents a route for which a private contract has been let, but it is not yet in operation.

MEET TO PUSH CHICAGO UPON AIRWAYS MAP

There met here yesterday a new type of pathfinder—the out-riders of commercial flying. In the offices of the National Air Transport, Inc., at 310 South Michigan boulevard, ten men, some youthful, some middle aged, all alert, sat down to discuss the private air mail contracts they have been awarded by the United States postoffice department and incidentally to put Chicago on the airways map.

Representing the local concern were Col. Paul Armstrong, Luther K. Bell, E. P. Lott, and L. D. Seymour. From Los Angeles came H. M. Hanshue of the Western Air express, operating the Los Angeles-Salt Lake City line. H. B. Varney, Walter T. Varney, and Charles T. Wright of "Walter T. Varney," Elko, Nev., to Pasco, Wash., were here from San Francisco. William B. Robertson of the Robertson Aircraft corporation, St. Louis to Chicago, represented St. Louis interests. And Warren Tripp of New York City, represented the New York-Boston route. Two men representing the other two private lines now signed up with the government were unable to be present.

These are the rates allowed by law: For every 1,000 miles, 10 cents an ounce for first class mail; for 1,500 miles, 15 cents; and for 2,000 miles, 20 cents.

KENTUCKY ASKED TO OUST DARWIN FROM SCHOOLS

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 18.—(AP)—For the second time in six years the Kentucky legislature is asked to outlaw the teaching of the theory of evolution from schools maintained in any way out of the state school funds.

Representative Grover C. Johnson of Hardin county, a Baptist, Democrat, farmer and merchant, introduced the measure today. A similar measure introduced in the 1923 session was defeated by one vote in the senate.

The bill will repose in committee for a while and then face discussion in the house of 100 church-going members.

Prices realized on Swift's temporary sales of carcass beef in Chicago for week ending Saturday, Jan. 16, on shipments sold out, ranged from 8.90 cents to 21.90 cents per pound and averaged 14.55 cents per pound.—Adv.

TRAFFIC EXPERT BARES MENACE OF GOODING BILL

Would Cripple Midwest, Congress Is Told.

Intermountain jobbers on a parity with the coast jobbers in selling goods (manufactured on the Atlantic seaboard) in the intervening territory, but it will not aid the large number of consumers in that territory. Jobbers are only interested in the relationship of rates, while the consumer has the most vital interest in the level of the rates.

If this bill becomes a law and the transcontinental rail rates are not reduced, the boat lines will advance their rates both east and westbound as much as possible, that is, to a point just low enough to enable them to get all of the business.

Eastbound Rates Advanced.

"The eastbound rates via boat lines operating from the Pacific to the Atlantic on all commodities except lumber, as much as 10 per cent horizontally, convert from the 'Mennonite' commodities, which are all products of the soil, will be advanced 10 percent or more March 1.

"If the all-rail rates to the coast are not reduced then it will necessarily follow that the rates to the intermountain territory will not be reduced. The western carriers are now asking the commission for a 5 per cent increase in their rates. It is conceivable that if this bill becomes a law it will result in an advance in all western rail rates, including through rates to and from the coast on traffic not handled by boat, rates between the intermountain territory and points west thereof and rates between intermountain territory and points east there.

"It is my prediction that, with the passage of this bill, the period of rate readjustment will render commercial conditions even more unstable than they are at the present time and that period of rate readjustment will last until the western roads find some way of obtaining the revenue they need to handle the traffic of this western country."

Gives Commission's Views.

Speaking for a majority of the interstate commerce commission, Commissioner John J. Bach declared that the commission could see no necessity for the passage of a bill that would have the effect of eliminating to a considerable degree, if not entirely, the competition between rail and water carriers between points where both forms of transportation are now in operation.

Commissioners Campbell and McManamy, in statements submitted on their behalf, approved the bill. Fred Farrar, general counsel of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, and the Minnesota railroad commission, through Herman Mueller of St. Paul, opposed the bill.

PASTOR PROBES ANOTHER'S PAST TO REGAIN FLOCK

Claims Rival Was Run Out of Town.

Former members of the North Side Nazarene church, 2709 Southport avenue, who left to follow the Rev. H. M. Ferguson, are to be advised to return to the old congregation, Dr. Ferguson said last night. Dr. Ferguson said he wants no trouble with the Rev. Albert C. Young, pastor of the Nazarene church.

That trouble was brewing was indicated, for Dr. Young was in Cedar Rapids, Ia., yesterday looking up Dr. Ferguson's record. He said he was arming himself with documentary evidence showing that Dr. Ferguson had been ducked in a pond and run out of Cedar Rapids by a mob and that the courts restored $40,000 worth of property to those followers of Dr. Ferguson who had given him all their worldly goods.

Girls Involve Pastor.

Dr. Young said he learned that Dr. Ferguson's first difficulties in Cedar Rapids were due to a home for girls he operated in connection with his Holiness association. Several of the girls told stories that drew the wrath of the town down upon Dr. Ferguson, and the pastor of the Nazarene church said.

He said Dr. Ferguson had formerly been a "Holy Roller" and that after leaving Cedar Rapids he sought to obtain converts from the Mennonite churches in Lincoln county, Ill. His method was to obtain permission to deliver an address to the congregation, then win the members to his own flock, according to what Dr. Young said he had learned.

Urges Class Boli Church.

It has been so in the present instance, Dr. Young asserted. Dr. Ferguson was accepted in the church as a Bible class teacher and at once started preaching doctrines in contrast to those of the Nazarenes. Dr. Young said he learned of this and remonstrated, whereupon Dr. Ferguson urged his class to leave the Nazarene church and follow him.

A large number of women did so, Dr. Young declared. Dr. Ferguson's success has been with women in his various flocks, according to Dr. Young, and in Cedar Rapids it was said that the former "Holy Roller" possessed a hypnotic influence over young girls and matrons.

JUDGE ASSERTS AUTO USE ADDS TO U. S. WEALTH

Invention of the automobile and its use by increasing numbers of people each year has added to the wealth and prosperity of the entire nation, Judge Alva R. Corlett of Cleveland declared last night at the closing session of the Midwest safety conference at the Hotel La Salle.

The automobile, when placed in the hands of careless operators, he added, however, is a deadly weapon, one of the most deadly in the country.

Judge Corlett compared the Nazi-dictatorial man with "modern speed demons" to the detriment of the latter.

WAKE FARMERS PAY TAX, FRENCH RADICALS

Never Been Done; Ho Do It Is Problem

BY HENRY WALKER

Chicago Tribune Press Service (Copyright, 1932, By The Chicago Tribune, Inc.)

PARIS, Jan. 18.—Force the farmers more toward the support of government by means of a capital tax, make the farmer pay by the payment of the strictest collection—this is the left proposal alternative to French Minister Doumer's fiscal plan. The two plans will be submitted to a meeting of deputies Wednesday.

M. Doumer has intended ever to work out economic means of saving from the farmers, but has been forced to turn to the tax on sales in the meantime to raise $1,000,000,000 (about $152,000,000) during the year.

The left group opposes this proposal that it will increase the burden for the poorer classes, and that stamping down the value about 10 per cent and levying on all forms of capital will be a disaster.

Afraid to Tax Farmers.

No French government since the revolution has dared to put a tax on land. Since the bloody reign of terror, the land has been divided among the large estates of the nobles, and the large estates of the nobles have been divided among the large estates of the nobles, and the large estates of the nobles have been divided among the large estates of the nobles.

Every time the state has tried to force the peasants to work the land, there have been ominous rumblings from the country, and the Parisians, mindful of the blood of the revolution, have been wary of the state's meddling and getting officials' hands always dropped the project.

Now that the state has decided to tax the land, it has a difficult task before it. The farmers keep no bank accounts and do not record their sales of livestock. They keep their cash in gold or silver when they can, and since the war, however, they have cashed in their gold.

Many of them invest their money periodically in national defense bonds. Before the war they subscribed to the bonds because these were a safe collateral paper not bearing names or addresses or any identification, so the ownership never be traced to them.

Since there are no French laws governing the authorities to investigate deposits or ownership of government obligations, the peasants are in a position to evade the tax.

The French farmers are not proud in the real sense of the word. They are intensely frugal and from daybreak to dusk throughout the year, living on the place, they do not spend much. They save money for marriage dowry for their daughters or for a fund to them when they have grown to work.

Family Love Almost Absent.

There is scant family love or mentality among the peasants. The parents are too old to work the farms, the aged fathers and the old mothers live in a wretched room of the farm, awaiting the end. They are forced to sleep under the eaves of the granary.

There are no movies, automobiles, radios, or other sports amusements for these people. Many of them there is no reading, most of them are illiterate. Principal recreation of the old is playing horse races, while the women knit baby clothes for grandchildren.

One may tour for days in France through the tiny, huddled village, dusty stone houses, where generations of the same name have lived, and never see a noble, excepting the cars of the wealthy chateaux owners. Outside the larger cities there are no parks and one never sees a public house in the rural districts where the owner has a radio set.

Saloon Only Recreation Center.

There are no libraries in the villages, nor are there clubs or recreation centers. There are only small saloons where venerable men sit around a table, drinking rather to sip red wine at 3 o'clock.

The farmers market their produce personally, driving their horse-drawn carts laden with garden to the nearest big town. They turn back home and resume work in the fields. Stock raising is their animal—chiefly calves, pigs, lambs—to town when they are for slaughter.

The French peasants are not anxious to increase their produce or stock. Year after year they serve same customers in the same way, a result, they never have to because of overproduction.

WAKE FARMERS PAY TAX, FRENCH RADICALS CRY

By HENRY WALES.

(Special Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, Jan. 18.—(The Chicago Tribune.)—The French government's move toward the support of the farmer by means of a capital levy, which would enable the farmer to pay the cost of the strictest control of the market, is the left bloc's latest alternative to French President Doumer's fiscal project. The two plans will be submitted to the Chamber of Deputies Wednesday or Thursday.

Mr. Doumer has intended eventually to turn out some means of getting away from the farmers, but has waited until the Chamber of Deputies has agreed to the plan to raise $300,000,000 (about $152,000,000) during the year.

The left group opposes this on the ground that it will increase the cost of living for the poorer classes. They claim that stamping down the money market will result in a loss of about 10 per cent and levying a tax on all forms of capital will do just as much.

As for the tax farmers.

No French government since the revolution has dared to put a tax on farmers. Since the bloody reign of terror, when the aristocrats were enfranchised as peasants and divided among themselves, the large estates of the aristocrats have been divided into small ones, and no one has dared to make them surrender their title to the state.

Every time a government has even suggested taxing the peasants to pay for the army, the country has been in a state of anarchy. The French government has been obliged to drop the project. Any attempt to make the farmers pay has a difficult task before him.

The farmers keep no bank accounts and do not record their sales of crops. They keep their money in a safe or under their pillow. They are called in, they have collected their money, and they have collected their money.

Many of them invest their savings in national defense bonds. Before the war they subscribed to bonds because they carried them. They only put them in the bank because they carried them.

There are no French laws enforcing the authorities to investigate the peasants or ownership of government bonds. The peasants are safe from the authorities.

The French farmers are not prosperous in the real sense of the word. But they are miserably poor and slave laborers. They have to work the land from dawn to dusk throughout the year, living on the plainest fare. They do not even own the land. They have to pay the landlord for the right to work the land. They have to pay the landlord for the right to work the land.

HILL MOVES TO UNITE VOLSTEAD FOES IN HOUSE

Invites Members to Join "Committee."

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(Special.)—Members of the house were invited by Rep. John Philip Hill (Rep., Md.) to join his unofficial congressional committee in its attempt to determine a basis on which all may unite to liberalize the Volstead act.

The invitation, in reality a poll of the 448 members, should provide an estimate of the sentiment of the house on liquor questions.

Public hearings of the group, which now numbers 53 representatives, including Fred A. Britten (Rep., Ill.), Adolph Sabath (Dem., Ill.), and Stanley Kuns (Dem., Ill.), all of Chicago, and two of the three women in congress, Mrs. Florence P. Kahn (Rep., Cal.), and Mrs. Mary T. Norton (Dem., N.J.), are scheduled to begin shortly, according to the invitation.

In the last session, each of the 57 members of the group offered identical bills in the house, proposing to legalize 2.75 per cent beer and light wines. Their efforts came to naught, although more than 650 pages of testimony were taken during the hearings of the judicial committee.

Modification of the Volstead act is inevitable, Mr. Hill declared in the invitation. "The only question is what form such modification shall take and when such modification will be made."

The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America in its recent research bulletin No. 5 on "The Prohibition Situation" stated that "drinking by young people, as compared with pre-prohibition times, is more and more the attitude towards law enforcement and respect for laws in general is worse" under the Volstead law.

Quoted Iowa League. "The Federal Council of Churches as stated on May 6, 1925, that the Anti-Saloon League of Iowa, after a survey of conditions in Dubuque, Clinton, Davenport, Muscatine, and Burlington, said, 'Rampant lawlessness, increasing by leaps and bounds, is forcing Iowa to face the problem of either demanding strict enforcement of the present prohibition laws or else of modifying those laws to permit the sale of light wines and beer.'"

The Anti-Saloon League having, since the passage of the Volstead act, insistently and incessantly demanded strict enforcement, the only alternative, in view of the above conditions, is modification."

The invitation cites the ruling of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, chief of the Volstead enforcement, that home made wines are legal without restriction on the alcoholic content so long as they are not "intoxicating in fact." What he terms the discrimination against persons who prefer malt or cereal beverages in banning beer if it contains as much as one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol is denounced by Mr. Hill.

Senator Blaine (Dem., S. C.) introduced in the senate a bill which would have the effect of enforcing prohibition in the embassies here of foreign governments. It would deny special rights to representatives of foreign nations stationed in this country.

GOOD WHISKY AS MEDICINE ASSURED BY PROHIBITION CHIEF

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(Special.)—Good news for the man who buys his whisky on a prescription is contained in a letter just sent to the twenty-four prohibition administrators by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury L. C. Andrews.

This letter calls for the elimination of the foreign orthography of the names of the drugs who were whisky and the publication of the names of the drugs who were whisky.

"I believe it is possible to clean up on the diversion of whisky by revoking the permits of all those druggists who are party to the misuse," Mr. Andrews said.

One administrator has proposed to lift simultaneously from every drug store in a given city, one pint of medicinal whisky; then test this whisky for purity and, where he finds the druggist handling split whisky or other than absolutely pure bottled in bond whisky, to revoke his permit. He will then publish the names of druggists handling genuine bottled in bond whisky, so the public may know where it may be procured for medicinal purposes. In the interest of public health and law enforcement, I think this may well be done.

"I want to urge upon you the advantages to law enforcement and to the community at large, of getting rid of bootleg druggists. Please, therefore, work in close cooperation with the state authorities, both as to pharmacists and as to physicians. You should never grant a physician's permit unless you have assured yourself that he is a bona fide and duly qualified physician. If, through illegal practices, you have occasion to revoke his permit, you should at once notify state authorities."

TYROL CITIZENS TOLD TO MAKE NAMES ITALIAN

Big Fines for Use of Foreign Forms.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

ROME, Jan. 18.—The following decrees affecting South Tyrol were issued today by the Italian council of ministers, and signed by the king:

"Article 1. Families from the province of Trento having names of Italian or Latin origin which have been translated into other languages or deformed by foreign orthography or foreign endings, will reassume their family name of origin or their original forms."

"Equally, names derived from names of places which have been translated into other languages or deformed by foreign orthography, and likewise titles of nobility translated or reduced into foreign terms, will be returned to the Italian form."

Heavy Fines for Violations.

"Whoever after restitution will make use of a name or title in foreign form will be punished with a fine of 500 to 5,000 lire ($100 to $1,000)."

"Article 2. In addition to the cases above mentioned, the foreign names of those of foreign origin can be Italianized by decree by the prefects if their bearers make this request."

"Article 3. The provisions of these above articles can be extended to other parts of the kingdom by royal decree."

Fare Loss of Citizenship.

The second decree provides for persons who exercised the right under the peace treaties to become Italian citizens. This citizenship can be canceled by decree of the prefects if political conduct demonstrates any of them to be unworthy of it. An appeal against prefectural decrees can be made through legal channels or in exceptional cases, directly to the king.

Gang Drills Walls to Get $50,000 in Alcohol

New York, Jan. 18.—(Special.)—Working leisurely through the night with electric drills and crowbars, eight robbers cut through the fortress-like walls of the Burlington Industrial Alcohol corporation's warehouse in Greenwich street and escaped with alcohol valued at $50,000 early today. The alcohol, stored in drums, was taken away on automobile trucks.

MR. THOMAS H. LEGHORN Wins Trip To Europe

by his outstanding service to our patrons

In the 59 years of its existence, it has always been the policy of John A. Colby & Sons to build up sales through service.

The test applied to every salesman on our staff is not "How many sales have you made?" but

"What have you done to build up lasting friendship and steady patronage among those who want quality furniture within their means? Have you made them feel—as every Colby salesman must—that whether they buy much, or little, or not at all, they will always receive courteous and painstaking help in their effort to choose exactly the right piece of furniture at the right price?"

To intelligently advise purchasers of furniture in accordance with their tastes, their needs, their financial means, is an ART, requiring years of training and constant development. No salesman can enter the Colby service, unless he has been trained in rendering service—and once he becomes a member of our staff that training never ceases.

To encourage our salesmen to strive for greatest possible efficiency in serving our patrons, we offer annual rewards in the form of extended trips to the centers of art and culture where the finest and latest in furniture developments may be studied at first hand.

Mr. Leghorn will visit the furniture, art and museum centers of London, Paris, Brussels, and other European cities, and will return to us even better than ever to advise you authoritatively on all that pertains to furnishing your home.

5 MORE KILLED BY AUTOMOBILES; DEATH LIST 46

Beam Crushes Aged Man After Crash.

The names of five men were added to the list of Chicago's auto fatalities yesterday. In the eighteen days since the new year, 46 persons have been killed by automobiles. In the entire month of January, 1925, only 43 persons were fatally injured. Christ Gunderson, 80 years old, 3148 North Kimball avenue, was killed and four other men narrowly escaped death when a truck crashed into the main wall around the Bridewell grounds and tore down a section of it.

A huge iron beam, laid horizontally over a gate to support a part of the brick wall, fell on Gunderson, because he attempted to scramble off the truck following the crash.

Crashed Into Wall.

Herbert Dedrick, 5703 Wilson avenue, driver of the truck, drove into the wall while watching a trailer attached to his vehicle. He and three other men on the truck leaped off before the beam fell, but Gunderson, because of his age, was unable to follow swiftly.

Max Solomon, 56 years old, 4141 North Ashland avenue, father of three children, died of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile at Irving Park boulevard and Hermitage avenue. The driver of the automobile did not stop.

Tony Viskicki, 32 years old, 2843 Houston avenue, struck last Saturday at 89th street and Houston avenue by an automobile driven by Capt. Henry Dwyer of Hook and Ladder company No. 17, died yesterday.

Negro Crushed by Truck.

James Jones, a Negro, 26 years old, 5100 Federal street, was crushed to death when the coal truck on which he was a helper was driven backward, pinning him against a wall at 1227 Loyola avenue. Henry Brown, 2541 Farragut avenue, driver of the truck, was held by police for the inquest.

Henry Davis, another Negro, 62 years old, 886 West Sixteenth street, died of injuries suffered last Friday when a bicycle which he was riding hit an automobile driven by Newham Hoag, 6623 Rhodes avenue, at 65th street and Stewart avenue.

A Year Old Boy May Die.

While playing with two companions last night in front of his home, George Karch, 9 years old, 4207 North Crawford avenue, was hit by a vampire car and carried for 200 feet. Brown, 2541 Farragut avenue, driver of the truck, was held by police for the inquest.

Lawrence Baron, 24 years old, 920 North Ridgeway avenue, reported at first to have died from injuries suffered three years ago in an automobile accident, died of infection following from an injury received while at work, according to a coroner's jury.

Beale Smookler, 2646 Potomac avenue, was killed by an automobile Sunday.

Stegé Helps "Prom Bandits" Back to Careers in School

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

Jimmy, a fast forward on the Tilden High school basketball team, and Herb, a reflective humorist for the Tilden Tech news, sat over in the detective bureau yesterday, a mighty forlorn twosome. For they told Capt. John Stege just how they happened to turn into ten minute bandits Sunday to get the seven dollars they needed to square accounts for their sale of senior prom tickets.

When they had told, Capt. Stege turned them over to the custody of Sgt. Edward McVeigh. They showed the sergeant old copies of their school paper. They told him how to drop the ball into the basket. They let him look at the somewhat grimy prom invitations with which their pockets were filled. They even turned back their coats and let the sergeant view the gold chain pins which "cost a lot of money."

Stegé Gets Action.

Meanwhile Capt. Stege got busy. Before the afternoon ended here's what happened:

Judge Asa G. Adams, on the recommendation of Capt. Stege, that the bonds be low, permitted Ephraim Ellison, Herb's father, to bail out the two youths at $2,500 a youth.

Mrs. Rose Mahatesta, in whose delicatessen store at 7401 St. Lawrence avenue, the boys, at the point of a defunct gun, minus bullets, and with the barrel held up by a rubber band, took $13, heard their story, and decided not to prosecute.

Senior Class Forgives.

Edward C. Rosetter, principal of the Tilden High school, called a meeting of the senior class. At its conclusion, Rudolph Nelson, 7226 Champlain avenue, carried an official vote of confidence from the entire class to the two boys. More than that, Principal Rosetter said he would reinstate them in their classes and permit them to graduate, as they were scheduled to do Jan. 28.

Then Capt. Stege, to make assurance more than doubly sure, announced that when the pair of Mark Twain bandits are arraigned this morning in the boys' court he will ask for a continuance of the case until after the graduation date. When the case does come up, Stege will ask for probation for the boys, on one condition he made it plain to them yesterday.

Must Tell the Court.

"If you'll come clean with the court the way you've come clean with me," the captain said, "and promise to go back to school and do your work these next two weeks, and not be cowards about it, then I'll be your friend. You're not bad boys."

"No, sir, we're not," and Jim, the fast forward on the basketball team, gulped as he said it.

These two sons of prosperous fathers explained why they hadn't gone to these fathers when they discovered their shortage. The seven dollars, it seemed, looked pretty big to sixteen year old Jim and seventeen year old Herb.

Besides, there was all the graduation expense. Senior prom was $1.50. Class plus cost $3.50. My kind did. Jim says. "Herb's cost $5.50. The class dues are $2."

Some Other Expenses.

From an inside pocket comes a memorandum of the dues: "$1 for class picture, 50 cents for white flower to wear graduation night, 25 cents for graduation number of newspaper, 15 cents for share of music."

Jim lost five dollars of the amount he had collected by the sale of prom tickets. Another dollar just vanished in ice cream and candy. Herb spent a dollar, "before I knew it," on basketball games at 15 cents a piece.

Tugging at the lapels of his light gray suit, Jim recalls another expense. "We were supposed to have dark blue suits for graduation. Gee, it was terrible, the money I had to ask my father for."

For the last week, every day at lunch the boys worried over the deficit, and knowing that they couldn't graduate unless all their bills were paid, held frantic consultations. Herb recollected he had found an old gun in the alley months ago when emptying the ashes. They hurried home from

ROUMANIA ARMY CENSORS YIELD TO EDITORS' STRIKE

Bratiano Slips Knife Into Carol's Hopes.

BULLETIN.

VIENNA, Jan. 18.—Following the declaration of a military censorship in Bucharest, the Roumanian editors went out on strike. This evening the military informed the editors that they could publish their papers uncensored, but if anything offending was printed the papers would be suppressed.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
(Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.)
PARIS, Jan. 18.—The world is deluged with most damnable lies in this whole Carol business.

Thus, Vintila Bratiano, Roumanian minister of finances, who with his brother, the Roumanian prime minister, is credited with building up one of the slickest tyrannies in modern times, growled at THE TRIBUNE correspondent today.

"If Carol wanted the throne, as the world has been tricked into thinking, it seems to my logical mind that the best way to get it would have been to stay where he was, since it is evident that his father could not live forever," sneered Vintila.

"If any one thinks he is able to put over a coup at the expense of King Ferdinand and the present regime, he is badly mistaken. If Carol thinks that, let him try, and he will find that the dynasty is of solid rock."

Eyes Flash Sparks.

Delivering this fat Vintila's eyes flashed sparks behind the bushy screen of eyebrows, luxuriant above his famous beak nose, the landmark of his face, which is covered with a shaggy beard.

Vintila left Bucharest at the moment of the crisis only to meet M. Titulesco on his return to Paris from the Roumanian debt negotiations in Washington. He will hurry back tomorrow to aid his brother.

Regarding the pots in keeping with his beautifully tailored getup, Vintila said:

"It is a most unhappy affair, which has cut us all to the quick. But, as we have always said, Carol's renunciation was entirely a personal affair."

"Let Him Start Anything!"

It was suggested that Carol quit because he could not get on with the Bratiano brothers, who hold the country from the ruling family down to the lowliest peasant in an iron grip.

"Carol agreed with me and my brother well enough. He is a nice fellow, and it is a pity it had to happen, but let him try to start anything."

There was even no serious opposition to the dynasty, whatever, M. Bratiano tried to explain, since the position of the royal family was vastly strengthened by the war.

"We will carry on without Carol," he said sadly, "and it is a lie that young Prince Michael is sick. Most of the lies emanate from Vienna, which is the seat of the vicious propaganda against us. Why doesn't the world press seek its information in Roumania itself?"

The hard-boiled Roumanian censorship was mentioned as the possible explanation.

"That is only to prevent lies from coming from Bucharest itself."

INDUSTRY SOLVES RUBBER PROBLEM, HOOVER ASSERTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(Special.)—American manufacturers of rubber and automobiles in making plans to insure a future rubber supply have taken a long step toward a solution of the problem, Secretary of Commerce Hoover told the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce today.

"The immediate need for action by this committee has been removed by the action of the industry itself in starting rubber development plans," said Mr. Hoover. "The automobile industry has raised a capital of $10,000,000 to stimulate rubber production. Rubber manufacturers are taking steps for pretentious plans. These plans are not completed, but it is understood they will have a larger capital than the automobile manufacturers."

Secretary Hoover renewed his recommendation for legislation to permit common buying of importing interests without violation of anti-trust laws.

He told of the action of the administration in advising American banking houses not to make loans which would aid in perpetuating foreign monopolies of raw materials needed by the United States.

DEATH LIST GROWS.
South Bend, Ind., Jan. 18.—(Special.)—With the killing today of Joseph Horvath, 54, factory worker, by a New York Central passenger train, the tragic death toll for the sixteen days of 1925 mounted to fourteen, an average of one death for every thirty hours.

Princess Bibesco, wife of the Roumanian minister at Washington and daughter of Herbert H. Asquith, was completely recovered today from the effects of a fall from her horse yesterday on the Douglas Fairbanks estate.

An announcement from the Fairbanks home today said that aside from being shaken up and receiving slight contusions, the princess was uninjured.

CALLS FREEDOM FOR PHILIPPINES TORCH FOR WAR

white power in the Pacific. Her interests would be at stake. America might withdraw from the Philippines, but she cannot stay out. War would bring her back.

"It is not possible for the 12,000,000 people of the islands to defend themselves if they were organized in a strong government. Not before the Philippines have tripled their population will they be able to defend themselves. Many of our politicians place great stock in professions of Japan's friendship with the Philippines and their sympathy with the independence movement.

Calls for Friendship Dangerous.
"I believe they are wrong. I think that Japan's friendship would be more dangerous to the Philippines than Great Britain's enmity, because the Japanese would put a Japanese population in the islands while the British could not."

"The case of America's withdrawal from the standpoint of the thinking Filipino is simply this. Those that have nothing to lose want the United States to withdraw. Those that have anything to lose want you to remain. If you get out you'll have to come back in six months to bury the dead, rebuild the cities and establish order and possibly to expel other invaders or divide the islands up into zones of exploitation with them. If the American flag stays here it will save lives and prevent war."

From other sources in the islands, one is able to gather other grounds for fear as to the international dangers of an independent Philippine republic. Even under the controlling hand of Uncle Sam, at the present time, the country is involved in international negotiations, or discussions, if not actual disputes with all of her neighbors in the Pacific. These disputes exist by reason of the extent of autonomy which America has already granted to the Philippine politics.

Face Many Disputes.
There is a dispute with Great Britain over location of the maritime frontier between the southeastern islands of the archipelago and Borneo. There is a dispute with Holland on the same question with regard to the international status of small islands near the coast of Java. There is a dispute with France over certain exactions and regulations placed upon the importation of French cattle from Indo China to the Philippines.

There is a dispute on with China over the proposed Chinese bookkeeping law which is a gross discrimination against the retail merchants of the Philippines, eighty per cent of which business is conducted by Chinese. There is a dispute on with Japan over repeated violations of Japanese junk to the shores of the northern islands opposite Formosa, which have been raided for jungle produce and where Filipino natives have been forced to work without pay for the raiders.

Could the Philippines, if independent and unprotected, disentangle themselves from these knotty problems without bringing on a war? If such a war developed, could America remain aloof? I doubt it.

PLEASE TALKS ON AND ON; AVERTS VOTE ON COURT

Says He's a Filibusterer in Fight for Time.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(Special.)—"I would to God," Senator Borah said today, "that I could stand here in this chamber without a bite, without a drink and without a wink and talk until March 4, 1931, when my term expires. If it would prevent this infernal, this iniquitous world court machine being laid on the backs of the American people. Now, Mr. President, if that is filibustering, I am ready to stand guilty to filibustering and take my sentence from the senate."

At midnight the senate surrendered to the South Carolinian—and adjourned. Thus the opponents of the world court gained another day in their fight to defer a vote on the court until after senate takes up the tax bill in the closing days of this week. And, the tax bill once taken up, the world court vote can hardly come before next March, when opponents of the measure count on a new body of public opinion to sustain them and gain their votes.

Senator Is Generous.
Borah is an ingenious filibusterer. He can make one question do the work of six. He operates thus:
"Mr. President, why should we go across the water and ask less than a dozen foreigners to settle our affairs for us. Why? I ask why. I asked why in my speech the other day. I am to answer them. I have had no answer since. I ask why again. I ask it now."

Restatement of the question follows. The minutes by and the senators by and President Dawes grinds his teeth. Distracted though it is by the filibuster, the senate is not yet ready to invoke cloture. World court proponents that are not now so wholeheartedly for the court would be content to see the vote deferred until after the primaries. Hence, they are not in cloture, which would bring an immediate vote.

Early Vote Asked.
For a few seconds this afternoon it seemed as if the vote would be immediate, but that was only seeming. "I for one," said Senator Heflin (Dem., Ark.), "am in favor of getting this world court matter out of the way. Can't we fix a definite day for voting?" Senator Borah, leader of the world court opposition, suggested Feb. 16 as a date sufficiently remote to "give everybody a chance to speak on the measure." Senator Heflin said that was too far off to suit him, and cries of "Vote! Vote! Vote!" rang through the chamber.

ANOTHER PARTY WHO SEEMS TO BE OPPOSED TO THE AMERICAN SPIRIT

Vice President Dawes responded to the cries by saying, "The vote will be on the resolution"—meaning the resolution that would put the United States into the court. The reading of the resolution was then demanded, but before it could be begun, Senator Borah again swung into the filibuster.

Earlier in the afternoon Senator Borah made an extended analysis of the episode of the Karelian boundary question, which Finland had taken to the world court, despite the fact that the other party to the dispute—Russia—is not a member of the court nor of the league of nations. Senator Borah warned that the United States should not enter the court without reservations which would enable the United States to veto any other nation's demand for advisory opinions on matters affecting this nation.

After the speech one Democratic and two Republican world courters told Senator Borah that they were in favor of those reservations.

FOGHIDESHARBOR AT NEW YORK AND DELAYS LINERS
New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—A dark, impenetrable fog, clinging to familiar landmarks and blurring tall buildings, settled on New York and the harbor today, demoralizing both land and water traffic.

Fifty liners and freighters, reaching Ambrose lightship, dropped anchor, waiting for the fog to lift. The liners Cristobal, Ascania, Flora, Fort Victoria, and Andania were among them. Ferryboats ran on delayed schedules.

WOMAN, 2 MEN PLEAD GUILTY TO BOMBING CHARGE

All Agree to Aid State in Trying Fifty.

Two men and a woman, caught in the bombing investigation net spread by Assistant State's Attorney Joseph P. Savage, entered pleas of guilty yesterday before Judge Emanuel Heller in the Criminal court.

This action is considered significant by the prosecutors, as the three have promised to appear as witnesses for the state against the fifty or more defendants named in indictments resulting from the inquiry.

Mrs. Lena Rice, Fred Wamquist, and John Davis, whose arrest following the bombing of a Fullerton avenue hardware store resulted in the investigation and the indictments, were those entering pleas of guilty. Sentence will be delayed until after the trials of the others against whom they will testify.

Woman Admits Guilt.
"Lena Rice, are you guilty or not guilty?" asked the judge of the woman bomber after her two companions had indicated their guilt.

"I'm guilty, judge," she replied. Joseph Avanzal, the fourth suspect arrested in the hardware store bombing, refused to change his plea and he will be placed on trial Jan. 25.

Wharton Becomes Prosecutor.
Another special prosecutor was added to the staff of State's Attorney Crowe to make a drive against the bombers. He is former Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Wharton, who several years ago obtained the conviction of several bombers, the only ones to be sentenced in recent years.

It was announced at the state's attorney's office that steps will be taken to bring Joseph M. Sangerman, alleged brains of the bombing trust, to immediate trial. Mrs. Rice, Wamquist and Davis are expected to testify against him.

PARTY LINES ARE SPLIT ON REPEAL OF ESTATE TAX

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Proposed repeal of the federal estate tax, as recommended by the senate finance committee, threatened today to become the chief point of controversy on the floor of the senate.

Administration Republicans, while favoring repeal, admitted that they were doubtful that the senate will approve it, and even if it gets through the house, it is likely to meet upon the continuance of the estate tax at the reduced rates provided in the house bill.

Both Parties Divided.
Radical Republican senators indicated that they will favor continuance of the estate tax at as high rates as can be obtained. A number of other Republican senators, including Berah (Ohio), McNary (Ind.), and Gurnea (Iowa), also declared their intention of resisting the proposed repeal of the tax. The Democrats are divided on the proposition, with Senators Fletcher and Trammell (Fla.), and Underwood (Ala.) strong for repeal, and some others equally insistent that it be retained.

Secretary Mellon and his advisers are giving close study to the provisions of the finance committee bill, but have reached no conclusions as to the department's policy.

Explains Surtax Changes.
Senator Simmons (Dem., N. C.) issued a statement explaining reductions made in taxes under the modified surtax schedule approved by the finance committee in order to meet the demands of the Democrats.

"In the compromise proposition the surtax provided in the minority schedule is accepted up to $64,000, but the majority insisted that instead of this amount beginning at $20,000, it should begin at $24,000," Senator Simmons said. "The effect of beginning the surtax at $24,000 instead of $20,000 is to increase the tax rate one per cent on each bracket."

The effect of this change will be to reduce the average reduction asked by the minority from 24 per cent to about eighteen per cent (as against the house reduction averaging nine per cent) on all incomes between $24,000 and $100,000.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda
For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all acids. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle
Insist upon "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in twenty-five cent and fifty-cent bottles, any drug store.

PLANE PURSUES BANK ROBBERS IN $14,000 HOLDUP

THE CRIMINAL COURT.
Alfred Wordlaw, robbery, 3 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge William M. Genzani.

Bank robbers yesterday obtained $14,000 at the Franklin Park State bank. There were two of them and they made their escape after locking three employees and two depositors in a vault.

William H. Schewe, cashier, took a chance on his life and dashed upstairs when the robbers entered. He gave the alarm, but the robbers took their time and didn't leave until they had scooped up all the available cash.

The alarm brought out the airplane patrol, operated by Sgt. Francis Carragher. This was the first time the county highway police have used the airplane—which the county board authorized them to hire—for chasing bandits. Sgt. Carragher swooped low over the roads for miles around, but failed to sight the fleeing bandit car.

TWO KILLED BY TRAINS.

Mrs. Zaitmas Stays in Jail to Await New Trial

Mrs. Bernice Zaitmas, once convicted and sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary for the murder of her husband, Dominick, was disappointed yesterday when Chief Justice Thomas J. Lynch in the Criminal court indicated that she would have to go through the ordeal of another trial. She was expected to be liberated from her long confinement in the jail yesterday and she went when her case was put over until Jan. 24 to set a date for her second trial, the first having been reversed by the Supreme court. A hearing on a motion for bail was set for today.

WHY THE HURRY WITH THE WORLD COURT?

The opponents of the world court in the senate learn that the supporters are seeking to apply pressure to the debate, out it off, and get a vote. The court lines are still intact, and it is understood that the needed two-thirds vote is available any time it can be taken.

The opposition is fighting for time. It is prolonging the debate and delaying the vote until the tax bill has been brought in. Then the world court must go over for the time. Court advocates say this is unfair and that the majority which wants to vote to join should have that opportunity and the business should be disposed of. The minority is rebuffed as an obstruction to orderly conduct.

Senator Borah, opposed to the court, said: "We are going into a court for all time. We are adhering to a tribunal which is proposed to be permanent. Through all the sweep of years we are to be there."

That being the case, what is the hurry? If the United States has any interests in this court none are being endangered by delay. If it were wise it would not be the less wise for delay for further thought. Time is not running against the welfare of the United States. In this case it will run for it.

There is no emergency. We have no disputes with other nations which should be hurried to arbitration before they get to war. We do not know of a case which properly awaits the determination of the United States to join the court.

The senate is restless to get this thing decided and done with. The promotion financed by Mr. Cook has done its work, and senators who privately wish the question had never been raised feel that they can vote for it with better countenance now than they will be able to do later.

No one has focused popular promotion against the court, but popular opposition is growing, and that is complicating the situation in the senate. Where some proponents of the court hope it will be made as easy as possible for them to vote for it and forget it.

If there were a deep conviction in the two-thirds vote which the court might get if it were voted on tomorrow there probably would be willingness to allow the opposition to talk unimpeded even to an empty chamber. At least closure would not be applied until patience had been badly worn and there was reason to believe the whole country would support it. The majority obtained, whether of reluctant or willing voters, does not feel itself on firm footing in the clear.

If debate and delay are weakening the support of the court and if closure is needed to save it, then the proposition has another argument at last.

THE NEXT LINK BRIDGE.

Senator McKinley and Representative Britten have introduced a bill in congress to permit the south park and Lincoln park bridges to erect a bridge at the mouth of the river. This bridge would link the outer drives, north and south. It would relieve much of the traffic pressure from Michigan boulevard.

The Chicago Plan commission at first favored the site mentioned in the bill—the mouth of the river. Then Maj. Rufus Putnam, resident engineer of the war department, said he would withhold consent for that site and suggested instead that the river in Grant park be continued due north to the river, perhaps a quarter of a mile west of its mouth, where the bridge could be constructed.

After some delay, caused by consideration of this proposal, Maj. Putnam notified the park commissioners that the war department had no jurisdiction, after all, over the location originally favored and the matter was one for decision by congress.

Accordingly, the bill has now been introduced. We hope that Chicago's representatives in congress will not allow the bill to suffer from neglect.

If the bill is passed within a month, as its backers expect it to be, voters at the April election can give on the issuance of $5,000,000 in bonds for the erection of the bridge and the completion of the drives. Chicago needs relief from traffic congestion as soon as possible and this bill offers the quickest relief.

IT'S A GIFT IN WASHINGTON.

The president of the University of Michigan and some of the alumni were discussing ways and means of keeping the homecoming habits of the graduates from having a bad effect on the habits of the undergraduates and the undergraduates from exerting a mischievous influence on their elders when they return to the atmosphere of the university.

The president believes in a dry campus. Some of the alumni think that all rules should be reasonable. Old college days and the old demeritum. It was suggested that one room in each fraternity house might be dedicated to the old days. The heavier suitcases would be carried into this reservation and no undergraduates should be permitted to come in touch with the mystery therein permitted. The president thought this lacked sanction under the Volstead act. One of the alumni in the discussion thought otherwise.

"I know that in our statehouse and in the national capitol," he said, "there are private offices in which liquor is consumed, for I have been there and have seen it."

It may be natural for college men to think that Inasmuch as the congressmen passed the Volstead act they know how it should work, but we do not believe that Washington methods will contribute anything to the sobriety of the universities. It is generally known that the District of Columbia was exempt from national prohibition. It would be quite illegal to have these little rooms elsewhere.

READY WITH THE TAX BILL.

So far as taxes go, this is another era of good feeling in the United States. The Republicans and Democrats are in substantial agreement on the new tax bill. The Democrats say they would like to see taxes reduced another $150,000,000, but they are going to vote for the Republican reduction of $350,000,000. The parties are in virtual agreement and so are the two houses of congress. The finance committee of the senate has now completed the draft of a bill which differs only in relatively unimportant particulars from the bill which was passed by the house just before the Christmas adjournment.

The principal differences between the house bill and the senate draft occur in the estate taxes and in the surtaxes on incomes between $24,000 and $44,000. The house voted to reduce estate taxes and the senate committee wants to abolish them. The senate committee found that all other tax laws benefited more from tax reductions than did those in the middle brackets and attempted to correct this discrepancy in part, at least, by the estimated differences in income tax receipts between the house and senate bills is only $12,700,000.

These are not important differences nor are they irreconcilable. Congress' first duty is to get the new tax law on the statute books. Business men will not care to make considerable commitments until they feel secure regarding their tax bills. The prosperity of the country depends to no small degree upon the diligence with which the senate pushes its work on the new revenue bill and the speed with which a compromise bill is agreed upon by both house and senate.

HOME RULE.

The Crowe, Barrett, Brundage Republicans in Cook county have adopted the home rule platform for Chicago as vigorously as the Democrats have done here. Gov. Small's previous experience with primaries and elections give him the idea that the Supreme court decision holding him liable for state money retained by him as treasurer can be lived down, even if he has to pay up.

The collection of funds not only to pay back the money when that becomes necessary but to retain office and the control of the legislature to avoid impeachment has begun in characteristic fashion with Mr. Small as the familiar martyr. The loss of metropolitan independence has been marked in legislatures controlled by Small. The laws which have transferred control of the city from Chicago to Springfield have originated in his office. There are more bills in his pocket. All he will require will be a legislature which protects him from impeachment. If he gets that he can hope to complete the subordination of the city, taking away its control of its taxation and of its police. Then the city will be sold down the river.

HUMBURG.

Congressman Victor Berger of Wisconsin says he will introduce a resolution for the seizure of the anthracite coal mines and their control by the federal government. The industry and properties he would nationalize are in Pennsylvania. Mr. Berger is a humbug, not a Socialist. He would not propose to nationalize Mr. Insull's electric properties, in Wisconsin the water power interests, the lumber business, or a silo, apple orchard, or milk can there.

HERE'S A RELIEF ALL OUR OWN.

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, governor general of the Philippines, appealed last fall for an endowment fund of $2,000,000 with which to care for 18,000 destitute children whose mothers were Filipinos, whose fathers were Americans. The campaign to raise this sum of money is still going on. It is a worthy cause and should receive generous support.

The majority of these children have been abandoned by their white fathers. Their native mothers have left them to shift for themselves, the boys drifting into vagabondage, the girls into the hands of vicious exploiters. The small American population in the islands, numbering only 8,000 out of a total population of 11,500,000, has done what it could to provide for these children, whose misfortune of birth was no fault of their own, but the burden is too large to be borne by so small a group.

The onus belongs on the whole American people. It has been this nation's pride that it replaced a weak dominion over the Philippines by a wise and friendly rule. Now it is carried home to America that these 18,000 children are its wards.

Americans have given generously to the children of other lands and other blood. They are now asked to provide for children in whom half the blood is of their own race.

As the agency to raise and distribute the $2,000,000 fund, the American Guardian association, with headquarters at 8 West 40th street, New York City, was created. Such men as Vice President Dawes, Chief Justice Taft, Cardinal Dougherty, Bishop Brent, W. Cameron Forbes, and Maj. Gen. Harbord, with many others, are at its head.

All that the association seeks to do is to give these 18,000 children a minimum chance to receive food and clothing, an education, and religious training, and so become self-respecting, decent men and women.

In appearance and temperament, in their mental and bodily vigor, these children resemble their white fathers. They react splendidly to care and training.

It costs $15 a month to care for a girl and $12 a month to care for a boy. The appeal for aid should touch the patriotism, the charity, and the generosity of all Americans.

You have heard a good deal of the Near East Relief. It's highly organized in this country. This Far East Relief is our own child.

Editorial of the Day

THE ARMY-NAVY GAME.

(Philadelphia Public Ledger.)

One of the results of the recent football fever has appeared in the shape of a demand from Chicago that the next Army-Navy game be played there. A Chicago congressman proposed by legislative action to force the playing of the contest in his favorite city. When that can happen, football is getting into politics as well as commercialism. Army and navy men are naturally resentful. The cost of moving the teams and staid bodies from Annapolis and West Point to Chicago and return would be about $200,000. Time lost from the work of both schools could not be valued in money, nor the effect on the morale of the battalion and regiment estimated. Congressman Britten has made a foolish suggestion. Chicago is to be favored. Why not Denver, Dallas, and San Francisco? The annual game between the services should remain a game, not a traveling hippodrome to recruit votes for politicians.

How to Keep Well.

By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit, or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations, and where a stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed, Dr. Evans will not make a diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

RHEUMATIC FEVER.

Dr. Evans suggests that the next great fight which health departments and physicians should wage should be against acute rheumatic fever. This disease, he thinks, should be reported to the health department just as smallpox now is.

He tells of some rather close observations which showed that in a certain hospital acute rheumatic fever spread from bed to bed. He says that it is contagious just as measles, diphtheria and smallpox are, though not so violently so. He compared acute rheumatic fever with consumption and syphilis, especially the former. The joint disease is just about as contagious as consumption; maybe a little more so.

As a rule, tuberculosis affects the lungs, though it may affect any organ. Acute rheumatic fever invades the joints and other organs, but the important organ is the heart.

Where we are able to examine the heart

very closely we would find that every rheumatic infection invades that organ, though not always to the same extent. There are cases of rheumatic fever in which the heart goes to pieces very rapidly. There are others where the heart involvement is so mild and slow that it attracts no attention for a long time.

One of the few discoveries about rheumatic fever which the last twenty years has contributed is the fact that certain small nodules, somewhat similar to the tubercles of tuberculosis, characterize the disease. These nodules are nearly always found in the heart. The large blood vessels in the heart have several of these nodules. When a person has had several attacks of rheumatism these nodules can be found in the skin by one who has had experience in looking for them.

The physician attending cases of rheumatism gets one other point out of this discussion by Swift. It is that rheumatism is not cured when the fever and pain disappear. The common treatment of rheumatism is salicylic acid, or some of its compounds. In this disease this drug acts like a sedative. But it acts against the symptoms and not against the disease or its cause. A rheumatic fever under the influence of salicylic acid may be free from fever and pain. He may feel that he is well, but the disease is still active. In consequence, he advises prolonged rest in bed after all symptoms have disappeared. He advises that consumption declines in prevalence that the vacant sanitarium beds be used for convalescents from rheumatism.

And rheumatism lays the foundation for heart disease in the stages where the public knows it.

REPLY.

I don't think it suggests that all rheumatic people are feeble-minded. Certainly no one has said they are imbecile or idiotic. I think you will learn much from a careful reading of Parson's book. It is one of the best contributions to the very large literature on the subject. It especially takes up the matter of eye disease.

YOU, who wrote a musical setting for one of Jayhawk's lovely poems and who can't let a note asking for permission to publish it; well, this is to say that the note has disappeared and we were never able to deliver it to our dear little Jayhawk. In the mad excitement of auto-graphing Linebooks we probably picked up the letter, wrote our name on it in white ink, shot it in the eye with our shellac blowgun and shipped it off to Hackensack, Red Dog, Wyoming or Shang-hai, China. We just naturally run wild when we start shooting with the blowgun. Please, Mr. Composer, write another letter to our Kansas wild flower.

THE MAIN TROUBLE.

R. H. L.: One of the main troubles with our troublesome modern girls is that they are spoiled by the anserine attentions of overly great numbers of philogynists. A philogynist is even more contemptible—if that be possible—than a woman.

CROWE-BARRETT GROUP GETS AID OF C. S. PETERSON

Quits Deneen Camp for the Allies.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.
County Commissioner Charles S. Peterson, heretofore classed as a Deneen Republican, aligned himself yesterday with the Crowe-Barrett forces. He will be slated for re-election on the home rule ticket by this group.

Peterson's alliance with the Crowe-Barrett camp was made through former Attorney General E. J. Brundage with whom the commissioner long has been on friendly terms. It is understood that he will be given one of the three county board places on the ticket allotted to the Brundage group along with the presidency.

To Fill Murray Vacancy.
The vacancy on the county board caused by the death of the late Tom Murray (Rep.) probably will be filled by the board next Monday by the appointment of a Crowe-Barrett Republican, it was indicated yesterday. It has been practically agreed by a majority of the board that the place properly belongs to that Republican faction.

John A. Pelka, Republican member of the city civil service commission is slated for the post.

The question of filling the vacancy had been held in abeyance pending the return of President Cermak from Florida and Cuba. Mr. Cermak got back yesterday greatly improved in health after his long illness. Mr. Cermak is a candidate for another term, and will head the regular Democratic county board ticket again.

The appointment of Pelka will give the Republicans as a whole eight of the fifteen county board memberships.

May Change Law on Board.
It was indicated yesterday that a move will be made in the next legislature to amend the laws under which the Cook county board was organized. Under the present unique system the president must be elected separately to that office, but must also be elected commissioner at the same time.

Thus a candidate for president might receive an overwhelming majority for that office, but if his supporters forgot to vote for him as commissioner also his majority for the presidency would be worthless. This has happened.

The Deneen county and Municipal court ticket is expected to take definite form within the next week.

Florist Fined $300 for Pinching Women's Legs
Peter Greco, a florist living at 135 West Seventy-second street, was fined $300 yesterday by Judge Francis Borrell on complaint of three women who said he had pinched their legs while riding on a street car.

WOMAN WORKER NOT INDUSTRY'S WARD; COOLIDGE

Nation Must Guard Its Motherhood.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(Special.)—Declaring that the employment of women in industry is a social problem that needs the attention of the whole country, President Coolidge tonight assured 250 delegates assembled for the first session of the women's industrial conference that he has always approved the passage of laws designed to safeguard the motherhood of the nation.

"Guard Women in Industry."
"My interest in the purpose of this gathering has been of long standing," the President's message read. "As a member of the legislative body of Massachusetts and as governor of that state I had the pleasure of giving my vote and sanction to laws that were of special benefit to the workers of the state. I particularly recall laws passed to protect women in industry, which I approved to safeguard and to protect the motherhood and potential motherhood of our state."

"Society necessarily looks to the management of industry as mainly responsible for the conduct of industry. The employment of women has, however, a broader significance to the nation than purely industrial problems. It is a social problem."

Her Responsibility in Home.
"Women can never escape the responsibility of home and children and the working woman as a mother and

MOTHER LOVE LOSES TO LAW IN SUIT FOR CUSTODY OF CHILDREN

The law triumphed over mother love in Superior Judge John J. Sullivan's court yesterday when the custody of two children, Shirley and La Verne Kellogg, 3 and 8 years old, was given to their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kellogg, in preference to their mother, Mrs. Coral Miller, 4059 Key-stone avenue.

Mrs. Miller based her plea on the grounds that she as mother was entitled to the children even though when destitute, she had signed an order permitting their adoption by the grandparents. Now she has remarried and is able to take care of them, she said. But Judge Sullivan agreed with the Kelloggs, who maintained that the children were legally theirs by adoption and could not be taken from them.

potential mother challenges universal interest.

In an address which, in his absence, was read, Secretary Davis made a strong plea for the improvement of conditions under which women are employed. "Two-fifths of the wage earning women in the United States are under 25 years of age," he said, "with their lives, not only as workers, but as mothers wholly before them. When women go into industry we must insist upon conditions that leave them healthy."

PARLIAMENT OF HUNGARY ACTS ON 30-BILLION PLOT

BY GEORGE SELDES.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
VIENNA, Jan. 18.—(Special.)—The Hungarian parliament today took up the 30-billion plot, a subject of the greatest political importance in modern times. Whether the government will survive or fall depends on the vote of confidence which Count Bethlen will demand following his declaration in answer to interpellations from the opposition parties.

Every one believes Count Bethlen will do his utmost to deny any political intrigue and draw a veil over the whole proceedings, hoping in the course of a few months to straighten out the affairs of those who are guilty. Count Bethlen's enemies charge he even contemplates asking parliament to make him dictator.

Meanwhile, excitement rages in the neighboring states. It now develops that the former first attempt was made with Czechoslovak crowns. One reason this plan failed was because the Czechs, Slovakia, on learning of the plot, gave a contract to an American company to engrave instead of lithograph new money. However, millions of crowns were forged. When the plot was discovered and quickly brought to the attention of the Hungarian government, agents who began investigating learned some police heads were involved in the forgery. Meetings were held yesterday in Prague, at which the parliamentarians denounced Hungary.

"Hungary's Fascism is leading Europe into new wars," one former minister declared.

Other speakers alleged that instead of an army of 20,000, which the treaty provides, Hungary actually has an army of 200,000, which constitutes a danger to her neighbors.

Metropolis, Ill., Jan. 18.—(Special.)—Dr. A. P. Cook, director of the state museum at Springfield, is superintending the removal of a mammoth's skeleton recently discovered near Golconda. Yesterday a tusk six feet long, parts of the vertebrae, and several teeth were unearthed. Dr. Cook says the mammoth, a grass feeder, roamed Illinois from ten to twenty thousand years ago.

WISCONSIN OLEO BAN IS KNOCKED OUT BY COURT

Madison, Wis., Jan. 18.—(Special.)—The Wisconsin anti-oleomargarine law was declared unconstitutional here today by Circuit Judge August C. Hoppmann.

The court granted manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers of oleomargarine a permanent injunction restraining the state from enforcing the law.

Judge Hoppmann's opinion declared that the law is unreasonable and discriminatory and that it denies the oleomargarine manufacturers and dealers the right to carry on a lawful business in a lawful manner. The law, passed by the 1925 legislature, prohibits the manufacture or sale in Wisconsin of oleomargarine in the manufacture of which milk or milk products are used.

ed that milk was used in the manufacture of the product to give it the flavor and texture of butter and that this constituted fraud. The act was designed to aid the state's dairy industry.

5 Negroes Identified by Victims of 43 Holdups

Five Negroes, arrested by Policemen Edward Donovan and Frank Reynolds, were identified in court by the victims of forty-two robberies yesterday.

Whereupon Judge George B. Holmes held them to the grand jury in bonds aggregating $370,000.

One of them, Arthur Washington, 21 years old, 4107 South State street, pleaded guilty to carrying a revolver and was sentenced to imprisonment for one year and fined $200.

The others are: Walter King, 35, 5114 Cottage Grove avenue; Babe Perry, 21, 124 East Thirty-second street; Arthur Clark, 24, 3114 Cottage Grove avenue; and John Chappell, 40, 325 East Thirty-third street.

KIMBALL PIANOS

MANY of your happiest hours are lived again and again in memory. With the KIMBALL PIANO you recall the romance and pageantry of an opera—the spirited appeal of a band concert—the colorful vivacity of a dance or evening party.

There is a vivid quality in the tones of the KIMBALL Piano that expresses the full value and meaning of every type of music—whether its message be grave or gay.

You will hear this animated, "singing" tone in every KIMBALL Piano—large and small grands, reproducing grands, uprights and players. But only by hearing a demonstration can you fully realize what a vital difference it makes to each interpretation.

BUILDINGS BILL IS MUM ON CHICAGO POSTOFFICE PLAN

Britten Hopes to Get Part of $115,000,000.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Specific authorization for the building of a new postoffice in Chicago will not be included in the $115,000,000 omnibus public buildings bill to be reported to the house by the public buildings committee, it became known today.

The forthcoming bill will provide approximately $50,000,000 for new government buildings in the District of Columbia during the next five years, and $115,000,000 to be spent throughout the country.

As a result, Representative Britten (Rep., Ill.), sponsor of the pending Chicago postoffice bill, is arranging conferences with the secretaries of the treasury and the postoffice department in the hope they may be induced to decide on the Chicago project as the first to be undertaken.

War department sanction of the proposal to build a bridge across the mouth of the Chicago river, linking for Outer Drive the outer drives of Bridge Sought, the Lincoln and south park systems, has been received by the senate commerce committee and the house interstate and foreign commerce committee, it was announced today. Public hearings on the project will be held at once in both committees, according to Senator McKinley (Rep., Ill.), sponsors of the necessary legislation in their respective branches.

The Greek debt negotiations came to a sudden halt today. Secretary Melvin informed the mission Greek War Debt that the treasury funding runs up had no authority against snag. Under the war time credit as the Greeks demanded, and the Greek mission replied that it had no authority to negotiate a funding settlement of any kind unless the additional advances were granted. The discussion between the two delegations failed to convince the Greeks that this government was under no obligation to give them an additional loan of $22,000,000 before entering into a funding settlement.

Members of the business conduct committee of the grain markets at Chicago, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Duluth, Milwaukee, and St. Louis conferred with Secretary of Agriculture Jardine on his invitation to discuss the work of these newly constituted agencies. These committees were recently set up with the approval of Secretary Jardine. They are charged with the duty and authority of preventing manipulation of prices as provided for in the grain futures act and have supervision over the business conduct of members of the various exchanges. Secretary Jardine expressed himself as pleased with the manner in which the committees are operating.

MORRISON HOTEL GIVES STOCK TO 189 EMPLOYEES

Another plan of employee participation in profits was announced last night following the presentation of from 10 to 200 shares of common stock in the Morrison hotel, owner of the Morrison hotel, to 189 employees of the hotel. Harry C. Moir awarded the stock on the basis of 10 shares for each year of employment with the company. The employees will receive the dividends on the stock as long as they remain with the company. Upon the discontinuance of employment, the shares will revert to the corporation. Employees of the hotel also are given paid up life insurance policies of from $1,000 to $5,000, depending on length of service.

FAWN GRAY FILES DIVORCE SUIT; THAW IN OFFING

Suit was filed in Baltimore yesterday by Fawn Gray, recently the object of the attentions of Harry K. Thaw, seeking annulment of her marriage to Theodore McFarland of Philadelphia. Miss Gray, who is the petitioner under her correct name, Gladys Marie Brown, is in Chicago as entertainer at a café, where the rumor is that she is to be married to Thaw when she is freed from her present marriage.

Miss Gray wouldn't discuss that possibility. She recently brought a bouquet of roses to the hospital where Thaw's former wife, Evelyn Nesbit, was recovering from an attempt at suicide, but Miss Nesbit wouldn't receive the flowers from her.

The annulment suit declares Miss Gray, or Miss Brown, is the daughter of a New York cartoonist. Her marriage to McFarland took place while she and all the others in the party were under the influence of liquor. She said she had no recollection of the ceremony but was told of it later.

12 Labor Unions Back Fetzner in His Campaign

Twelve labor unions, most of them teamsters' and chauffeurs' organizations, joined yesterday in endorsing the candidacy of Municipal Judge William R. Fetzner for re-nomination and re-election. A delegation called on Crover-Barrett Republican leaders and asked them to put Judge Fetzner on their slate. They also approved the home rule and anti-world court planks of that group.

C. & N. W. TO USE OIL ENGINE HERE; EXPANDS YARDS

Millions Will Be Spent on Project at Proviso.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

President Fred W. Sargent of the Northwestern road yesterday announced three improvements of major importance. These consist of the purchase of an oil-electric engine, the purchase of 625 acres of land for extension of the Proviso yards, and also the purchase of about $1,000,000 worth of cars—146 all steel iron ore cars and 250 convertible gondolas.

Probably the public is more interested in the oil-electric engine than in the other two improvements, which involve larger outlays of cash. Several months ago this Tribune announced exclusively that the Northwestern had arranged to make a comprehensive test of the oil-electric engine.

Since then the master mechanic and assistants of the road have observed the working of this type of locomotive in New York and New Jersey and have collected extensive data on the results of the Diesel engine on railroads in Italy and Germany as well as on the Canadian National railway.

Engine to Be Used Here.
The outcome of these inquiries is that the Northwestern decided to make the purchase without a local test. The locomotive has been promised about Feb. 1 next and it will be used first in the yard on the north bank of the Chicago river between the north branch and the Municipal pier.

It is claimed that this engine of the Diesel type emits practically no fumes or smoke. It is also said that it is more economical to operate than a steam locomotive, and its installation is much less expensive than electrification.

The improvements in the Proviso yards are planned on a scale to rival the Markham yards of the Illinois Central, which stretch along its tracks from Harvey through Hazelcrest to Homewood.

Millions to Be Spent.
Several million dollars are to be spent in Proviso west of Bellwood. In grading, filling, and track work about $2,000,000 will be expended this working season. It is planned to add about 30 additional tracks, boosting the car capacity to 17,000 or 18,000 cars.

Involved in the improvements will be the construction of a subway 100 feet wide to three for Lake street and North avenue, which will pass under the tracks of the yard. This subway alone will cost about $600,000, according to the engineer's estimate. New connections will be made with the outer and inner belt roads which serve all of the roads entering the city. By this arrangement many cars will be kept out of the city which are destined from one point outside to another point outside.

Reformed Sleeping Programs Might Be Beneficial to Many

Scientific experiments on sleep conducted by the faculty of an eastern university while ago led to the suggestion that sleep may be only a form of intoxication due to storing of poison in the system, that the number of hours spent in bed may be largely habit rather than physical need, and that much time wasted on slumber might be given to work or play.

Overseeing, however, is not the great American habit.

Yet a woman writes me who has to have from 13 to 14 hours sleep in order to get along. She asked for instructions on how to get her weight down. The doctor told her to lose pounds overweight and her abnormal appetite for sleep might well serve to support the theory of the university experimenters that "in many instances those who sleep most apparently have less mental and muscular activity during their waking state," and that sleep is an intoxication due to storing of poison in the system. Where there is an abnormal demand for sleep, both conditions invariably appear.

Not all overweight persons, of course, are so, but many contribute to fat accumulation by retaining in the system poisons that should be expelled through the normal processes of evacuation.

A system that is tuned to a high key of efficiency requires no more than eight hours' sleep, nine at the most. Just enough sleep is required to recharge the nervous battery. More than enough promotes mental and muscular inactivity. The high strung nervous person who should avail herself of the full quota of hours is the one least likely to do it.

If one hopes to reduce, she has to begin a reformed sleeping program. Instead of throwing herself down for a nap after a meal, or lounging around in a comfortable chair for an hour or so, her first duty to the new silhouette is to be up and doing every waking hour. No lying in bed mornings after her allotted eight or nine have been observed!

Physicians generally recommend that one should not bound out of bed in answer to the alarm clock. After waking one should do a little stretching and deep breathing before making the leap into the cold tub. But that does not mean one should lie abed a half hour, an hour or two or three after the gong is sounded. 15 minutes, at most, is granted between the awakening from deep slumber and the "fatal leap." If this cannot be accomplished without groans about not having had enough sleep a physician should be consulted about a poisoned system.

ATTORNEY FINED BY LYLE AFTER COURT WRANGLE

Municipal Judge John H. Lyle fined Attorney James J. Glassner $100 for contempt of court yesterday in the course of an altercation during which both lawyer and judge hurled charges of "unseemly conduct" at each other.

Judge Lyle refused the change of venue and refused to read a bill of exceptions, which Attorney Glassner presented. When the attorney protested that such action was without precedent the judge remarked:

"Don't try to explain your unseemly conduct in this case."

"It's your conduct that is unseemly," retorted the lawyer. The fine for contempt of court followed and there will be a hearing Jan. 23, at which Glassner will be defended by Attorney Clarence Darrow.

ADVISES HEALTH AUDIT TO SAVE MIDDLE AGED

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Declaring that nearly 400,000 middle aged people in the United States die every year because of old age diseases, Dr. Lena K. Sadler, of the Institute of Research and Diagnosis, Chicago, made a plea for a periodic health audit tonight in addressing the annual Fraternity Week at the University of Illinois.

These 400,000 people are not being carried off at ages of 45 to 50 years by measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever and diphtheria, but instead by old age diseases, which should be taken by their fathers and mothers who are 30 or 40 years old, Dr. Sadler said.

Although these old age diseases are symptomless, they cast their warning shadow sometimes 20 years in advance and it is possible, if these shadows are detected, to avoid the calamity and prolong life by periodic health audits, the speaker said.

PICTORIAL REVIEW

PICTORIAL REVIEW'S circulation figures for the last half of 1925 have just been sent to the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

For the last five months of 1925, these figures show an average of

2,362,704

NET PAID COPIES PER ISSUE

This is nearly 200,000 copies monthly above our guarantee and above the circulation on which our present advertising rates were based. Each month shows an increase over the previous month—evidence of continuous growth.

IN the United States PICTORIAL REVIEW'S circulation is substantially higher than that of any other woman's magazine.

In total circulation (which includes Canadian and Foreign circulation), PICTORIAL REVIEW has substantially the same, if not more, circulation than the Ladies' Home Journal.

The latest circulation figures given out by the Ladies' Home Journal showed a circulation for the October 1925 edition of 2,350,633 copies. PICTORIAL REVIEW'S circulation for this issue was 2,380,607 copies.

This in spite of the fact that PICTORIAL REVIEW sells at fifteen cents a copy, whereas the Ladies' Home Journal sells at ten cents a copy.

Edward J. O'Brien, Literary Critic for the Boston Transcript, who each year reviews the stories published by all magazines, has again placed PICTORIAL REVIEW stories far ahead of those of all other women's magazines. This is the ninth consecutive year that he has rated PICTORIAL REVIEW at the head of all women's magazines.

CIRCULATION and the QUALITY of a publication are the two vital factors to interest advertisers. PICTORIAL REVIEW can consistently claim leadership in both.

HOME INSURANCE BUILDING SOLD FOR $3,250,000

BY AL CHASE.

Final steps in the acquisition of one half of a city block in the financial district were taken yesterday when the Marshall Field estate bought the twelve story Home Insurance building at the southeast corner of La Salle and Adams streets for $3,250,000. This gives the estate the entire block of south frontage on Adams street, between La Salle and Clark streets.

Although leases will not permit completion for several years, this block ultimately will be improved with a block long skyscraper, replacing the Home Insurance building, the former Merchants Loan building and two small structures.

Block of Frontage on Adams.

The entire Field estate holdings in this block now comprise a frontage on Adams street of 230 feet, 1894 feet on Clark and 1894 feet on La Salle.

Included in the Home Insurance property purchase is the three story building to the north, 514 1/2 feet.

The Home Insurance property was bought from the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustees, who purchased it in 1911 for $2,150,000 from the Home Insurance company of New York. The property has been in charge of William C. Co., who were the brokers in its purchase by the Field estate.

Harper Theater Sold $440,000.

Herman H. Goodfriend has sold the Harper theater property at the northwest corner of 534 street and Harper avenue, to Le Grand & Burton for a reported $440,000. Stores at 305-53 South Parkway were given in part payment by Mr. Burton. Samuel G. Hair was broker for all parties, and Ralph P. Stern was attorney for Mr. Goodfriend. Bernard P. Johnston was attorney for the buyer.

The theater building is on a 150x130 lot in addition to 1,300 additional acres, contains seven stores and seven offices. James Plonka operates the theater.

HINDENBURG
CABINET CRForces German
Follow Luther

BY SIGRID SCHULZ

(Copyright, 1926, by The Chicago Tribune)

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—The cabinet of Chancellor Hans Luther completed tonight after a day of battling among the political leaders of the cabinet.

The cabinet which Dr. Luther submitted to President von Hindenburg today follows:

HANS LUTHER, chancellor, minister of interior.

WILLIAM KUEHL (Democrat), minister of justice.

PETER REINHOLD (Democrat), minister of education.

JULIUS CURTIUS (German party), minister of economy.

DR. WILHELM MARK (German party), minister of finance.

DR. OTTO GIBLER (Democrat), minister of war.

DR. R. KROHNE (German party), minister of traffic.

DR. HENDRICH BRAUNS (German party), minister of labor.

Hindenburg serves ultimatum to the leaders of the cabinet before the cabinet is formed, said:

"In view of the misery of the people, I beseech you to come to a decision on the formation of the cabinet."

The president then gave the cabinet an ultimatum in which he demanded that they accept and act as Dr. Luther might feel the country out of the political situation.

The new cabinet, with Dr. Luther and Stresemann, who signed the Locarno treaty, at its head, is to stand staunchly for the "Locarno spirit."

Backed by President von Hindenburg, the new ministry is expected to be able to curb the Nationalists and stop Germany from leaving the league of nations.

By adhering to the world conference of the league of nations at Geneva, the United States becomes indirectly involved in the problem, as the German government is determined to force the every possible means.

After Germany joins the league of nations, the Berlin government tends to demand that the United States give an advisory opinion on the claims.

The German delegates to the Paris conference are instructed to raise the heavy allied military force on the Rhine as one of the conditions to be eliminated before European disarmament is possible.

Disappointed with M. Briand's attitude concerning the evacuation of Germany, Germany intends to make a declaration to Great Britain and Italy, as well as an ultimatum to the United States.
